“ The passage of time is as inevitable as the rambunctious clamour of children, an oak tree with leaves falling at the base of the tree, an undertow seeking the cavernous reaches of the deep or the Moon's gleaming silhouette through the day. Despite it all, life is a wondrous thing; eventful in the beginning yet fleeting as well. Mommy J, well aware of this, made so consequential a choice, being reconciled to God through the Lord Jesus Christ. Though our memory of her perhaps shrouded in sorrow, more profound is the sacred promise that God gave to us"...that whosoever believeth in Him shall not perish, but have everlasting life." We, whoever is with a saving knowledge of Christ Jesus, shall all rejoice with the Lord one day.

“ Mommy--I am so happy to know that I will see her again. When I start to feel sad, it gives me comfort to know that one day, I will see her, again. It also gives me comfort to know that at this moment, her happiness is beyond description!!

Mommy I miss you and I love you so much. It is not easy. I am so glad I got to spend time with you. It was just about a month now that we were all playing bingo together.

We will all miss your sweetness, your kindness and that warm gentle smile with that beautiful "TWINKLE" in your eyes.

We thank God for allowing you to be with us for 94 years, and take comfort in knowing you are back in his loving arms. we will see you again. I look forward to it.

As you have always said to all of us we will "Keep lookin up"

Love you forever Mommy
