“ I met Ronald in the early 80's in Sacramento. We were both college students and part of student delegations that had convened at the capitol to fight against the abolishment of free community colleges throughout California. I was representing San Diego and he was representing Oxard. When we first met he introduced himself as Ronald Colthirst the 3rd. I had never met someone who was a 3rd, nor a brother who was as smart, focused, dignified and classy as Ronald. Although I only interacted with him for a few days at a student convention over 44 years ago, I have never forgotten him. RIP Ronald Colthirst III.
